THE American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my Country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

 The PRESIDENT GENERAL'S MESSAGE ~ ~ ~

from Birmingham, Alabama

RYALL S. MORGAN
PRESIDENT GENERAL

"We descendants of the heroes of the American Revolution who, by their sacrifices, established the United States of America, reaffirm our faith in the principles of Liberty and our Constitutional Republic, and solemnly pledge ourselves to defend them against every foe."*

This was your pledge to SAR when you signed a membership application. Let us not only renew this pledge at every meeting, but let us carry it with us in our daily lives.

As this is written, I think back on the bloody feet, the rent clothing, the gnawing hunger of those valiant men at Valley Forge in the Winter of 1776. This was the price these men paid for personal freedom from what they considered excessive and oppressive government. Today, we have far more excessive government, and many are not lifting a hand to correct it. Oh yes, we complain loudly in our living rooms, but are missing on the firing line. "Summer soldiers" as it were.

We now have approximately one-sixth of the work force of this country employed in some aspect of government. One in six to govern the other five. This reduces our potential for production, and production is the only means of creating wealth, not printing press dollars. Too much government results in abuses of power and always a struggle for more power. This in turn has opened the gates to pressure groups and given rise to huge deficits in the Federal budget. The only curb on this can be through legislative action by Congress. But how can this be achieved?

You now have an outlet for your frustration. The Indianapolis Congress approved and adopted an official program, the "How-They-Voted" program. Too often, the average citizen has no easy way of knowing which Congressmen and Senators are voting for plans which are largely unpopular with the majority of people—busing, inflation, no-win wars, big giveaways to foreign countries, extravagant welfare programs, higher taxes to pay for it all. This program makes it easy for you to know how your Congressman and your two Senators voted on controversial legislation, and lets him know that he is being watched. He is not being asked to vote for or against any specific legislation, but we are telling him that we either do, or do not like the way he voted on a particular bill. If you like the way he voted, then use the same means to let him know that.

The "bullets" in this program are letters developed by the Americanism Committee. On the reverse side is a reproduction from the Congressional Record showing how each Congressman (or Senator) voted on this bill. On the other side is space for date and name. Then printed is the name and number of the Bill, some comment on what it means and how it affects the welfare of the country, and why you either approve or disapprove of it; and then asks his reasons for voting as he did. At the bottom, space for the signature and address of the sender.

State Presidents have been requested to appoint a liaison man for their states. As letters are prepared, he will receive copies, and then order the quantity he thinks will be mailed from his state. Often, the vote of your Congressman will be to your liking, and then the letter may be used to thank him and let him know how you feel. Contact your State President, or the Chairman of the Americanism Committee, and let him know you are interested. These letters do not carry the SAR name or insignia, and may be signed and mailed by any interested person. Two other organizations are now using them.

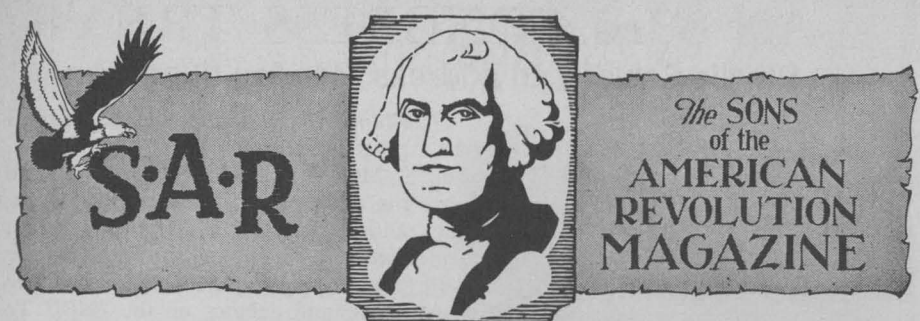

If you have had that frustrated feeling as to what to do, you can now get into the fight with the "How-They-Voted" program with the letters as "bullets." You might be surprised at the answers you will receive.

And now let us close with the SAR Recessional:

"Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers who gave us our Constitution, the Bill of Rights, an independent Supreme Court and a nation of free men."

THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MAGAZINE

WARREN S. WOODWARD, Editor

EDITORIAL

WARREN S. WOODWARD
EDITOR

"There is no substitute for victory!" The truth and significance of these stirring words by General Douglas MacArthur reflect the frustration of our citizenry following a war that we did not start, a war that our armed forces were not permitted, by our politicians, to win.

Today, American honor and the hope for the global freedom of mankind stands at a new low. The communist world is celebrating our retreat with considerable justification while enslaved peoples have lost faith in America, their only possible liberator. Remaining free nations are apprehensive of their ultimate survival after witnessing our abandonment of the South Vietnamese people.

I consider the present "peace" to be a flagrant betrayal of 236,000 American and South Vietnamese soldiers who lost their lives for the sacred cause of independence.

We have permitted more than 140,-

000 (300,000, according to our allies) enemy troops and their bases to remain within South Vietnam, whereas we must withdraw all troops and dismantle all bases. Further, we have accorded North Vietnam the privilege of supplying and maintaining these invaders.

We have agreed to spend 2½ billion dollars in rebuilding North Vietnam. I bitterly resent the theft of my tax dollars as reparations to this barbarian enemy who has murdered our sons. If this bandit nation is to be rebuilt, let it be done by Red China, Russia, England and other countries who supplied them with the sinews of war.

We have agreed to supply no further arms to South Vietnam, except on a 1-for-1 replacement basis, while Red China and Russia may continue to send arms to North Vietnam without restriction as to type or quantity.

We have legalized the Vietcong as a fully-equal partner in determining the future of South Vietnam, while North Vietnam remains immune to any manner of occupation or political adjustment. For us, it's a case of "heads, they win; tails we lose."

We have abandoned our original stand that South and North Vietnam are separate states, and Kissinger now casually refers to "the civil war," openly endorsing reunification, which can only mean a total and permanent communist state.

If this be "peace with honor," may God help us! The enemy is without honor.

New Aids For Membership Recruitment

Your National Membership Committee has developed and published a new membership pamphlet which we believe will be of immeasurable benefit to compatriots who are or want to be active in recruiting new members for our Society. The pamphlet entitled "General Information and Requirements for and Preparation of Application Papers" is a "how-to-do-it" pamphlet to be given to a prospective member which will tell him about the fees of the Society; its objects; what constitutes acceptable Revolutionary service; how to utilize DAR, CAR, and SR papers as references; how to prepare supplemental applications; reinstatements; and how to actually prepare application papers for membership.

The pamphlet is designed primarily to assist the applicant who has relatively little primary genealogical work to do to complete his papers, but should prove of assistance to all applicants. Compatriots of our Society should also familiarize themselves with the pamphlet in order that they can assist prospective new members.

The new pamphlet will be distributed free of charge with future orders of application papers from National Headquarters at a ratio of one pamphlet per set (2) of application papers. Additional copies of the pamphlet can be purchased from National Headquarters. A limited number of copies of the pamphlet will be distributed without charge by the National Membership Committee in order to acquaint our membership with this new, helpful aid to obtaining new members.

In order to further assist state societies with membership recruitment activities, your National Membership Committee is also currently organizing a series of membership workshops throughout the United States. The purpose of a workshop is to have a one hour review of membership procedures and techniques so members of our Society can actively assist and advise prospective applicants in the completion of their application papers. The workshops are given by State Membership Chairmen and members of the National Membership Committee. If your state has not already scheduled a workshop and one is desired, arrangements for assistance and guidance can be made with

Warren G. Hayes, Vice Chairman
Membership Committee NSSAR
10 Terrace Road
Norristown, Pennsylvania 19401

Materials, including a Membership Kit and sample agenda, will be provided by the National Society.

Washington, the Exemplary

During the long absence of General George Washington from his beloved Mount Vernon while leading the American armies to eventual victory, his cousin, Lund Washington, served as manager of the properties.

In Spring of 1781, enemy warships came up the Potomac, and anchored off Mount Vernon. Lund Washington, fearing for the safety of General Washington's home, boarded one of the vessels and voluntarily offered supplies. Consequently, although other homes along the river were burned, Mount Vernon was spared.

When General Washington learned of this incident, he was furious. In reprimanding his manager, he wrote, "That which gives me most concern is that you should go on board the enemy vessels and furnish them with refreshments. It would have been a less painful circumstance to me to have heard that in consequence of your non-compliance with their request, they had burnt my house, and laid the plantation in ruins. You ought to have considered yourself as my representative, and should have reflected on the bad example of communicating with the enemy and making a voluntary offer of refreshments to them with a view to prevent a conflagration."

The magnificent character and strength of George Washington remains always as the greatest component of our American heritage.

Historian, New Jersey Society, SAR

downtown New York City at West Broadway and Park Place. Its second president, Rev. Myles Cooper, having arrived from England the year before, and now only 26 years of age (among the youngest ever to head an American college), was a staunch supporter of the Crown. He was a loyalist, a Tory. It was his strong belief that the people of Great Britain were among the happiest on earth and that Americans could be the happiest if they continued relationship with the mother country. He was very disturbed by open disrespect for the government and warned that the British were capable of governing the country, and further warned that "a rebellion of the colonies, whether it should prove successful or unsuccessful, would necessarily terminate in ruin and destruction." He had been an able and popular college president, but the political climate of his city and province made him increasingly unpopular.

On the night of May 10th, 1775, a mob gathered outside of his house. But he had been warned just before by a friendly student, and he escaped over the back fence while two students, one of them being young Alexander Hamilton, stood on the steps of the house to keep the people from breaking in. The following evening President Cooper embarked on a British ship for England. No public commencement was held that year.

The next year, in April of 1776, the students were sent home, the library books and scientific equipment sent to City Hall, and the college building was turned into a military hospital for Americans. The Committee of Safety in New York City looked upon the school as a Tory institution. A few weeks later King's College was used as a barracks for British troops who occupied the city until November of 1783. Many of the books and most of the apparatus were lost in the move. The college did not open under its new name, "Columbia College," until the spring of 1784, eight years later.

In New Brunswick, little Queen's College (now Rutgers University) had been holding its classes since 1771, when the college opened, in a former tavern, "The Sign of the Red Lion." The school was in operation only five years when first Washington with his defeated troops, and, following close upon him, Lord Cornwallis and Howe entered the city in November and early December of 1776. New Brunswick was an occupied city from then until June of the next year. Classes were disbanded and the small college building was occupied and subsequently burned inside, or at least badly damaged. British troops encamped on what

All American wars have affected life on our college campuses. The far-away Viet Nam War has had severe reverberations on the American university.

The American Revolution, which dragged on from 1775 until it was settled by the Treaty of Paris in 1783, touched directly or indirectly every one of the nine American colonial colleges. These institutions, Harvard in Massachusetts, William and Mary in Virginia, Yale in Connecticut, Princeton and Rutgers in New Jersey, Columbia in New York, the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Brown in Rhode Island, and Dartmouth in New Hampshire (to use their present names), are called the "colonial colleges" because they were the ones founded in British America under the Crown, before 1776, before we were the United States of America.

The spirit of the rebellion was in the air on these campuses long before the outbreak of hostilities at Lexington Green and Concord Bridge in Massachusetts. In 1768, the senior class at Harvard College voted to refrain from using tea because of the duties paid on this product (along with lead, glass, paint, and paper). For three years, from 1770 to 1773, the General Court of Massachusetts held its sessions in the college buildings in Cambridge to get away from the mob influence in Boston. Thus the students were brought in close contact with the debates and legislative action, and were caught up in the spirit of the times. In June of 1774 Boston was occupied by British regulars and Harvard decided to hold no public commencement that year. Indeed, another one was not held until 1781!

The first conflict of the Revolution, on April 19th, 1775, found six scholars of Harvard marching off with the minutemen. Before the American Revolution was over, many Harvard graduates served and died for the cause of liberty.

In the summer of 1775, the Provincial Congress wanted the Harvard College buildings for military purposes. On July 3rd, George Washington took command of the colonial troops in Cambridge. The library and scientific apparatus were moved a few miles north to Andover, out of reach of any anticipated activity, and students resumed their studies in the fall of that year at Concord. That is, only some of the students. Many withdrew from college; some joined the army. Soldiers were quartered with very crowded conditions in the four college buildings (there were 640 of them in the 32 chambers of Massachusetts Hall). Lead was taken from the roof of a building to be molded into bullets, and brass door knobs and locks disappeared. After General Washington left with his men for New York, in the Spring of 1776, the students gathered again on their Cambridge campus. But the classes were small and shortages of goods and inflation made life difficult.

Once again, in the winter of 1777-1778, college activity was upset to a degree with the quartering of General Burgoyne's British troops who had surrendered. The students were sent home for a three-months winter vacation. On protest of Harvard, only one building was used as barracks and private homes provided most of the space needed by the British. The college came out of the war in bad financial condition, and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts had to help it by paying the president's salary, and that of three professors, for several years.

At the time of the American Revolution, Columbia University was known as King's College and was located in is now the main campus of Rutgers University. College classes were held at North Branch from 1777 to the summer of 1779; at Millstone from September 1779 to 1781; and in that latter year they were resumed in New Brunswick.

Princeton has been called "The Cradle of Liberty." Here, on this central Jersey campus was President John Witherspoon, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a patriot almost before he stepped off the ship from his native Scotland. The news of Lexington and Concord spread through the college and the students organized themselves into a company of fifty men.

In November of 1776 the president summoned the students and warned them of the approach of the Red Coats. Students loaded wagons with as many personal items as it was possible to take and left the town, as did the president. First, Washington, with his shattered forces, passed through the village, and a few days later came the British. Twenty days of tyranny took place as British soldiers went from house to house pillaging, plundering, and dragging off to Nassau Hall all those who were suspected of being rebels. A regiment slept in the hall and horses were stabled in the cellar.

On January 3rd, 1777, the soldiers marched off toward Trenton, but in a few hours they were soon back as they suffered defeat just outside the village by Washington's army. This was the Battle of Princeton, the only battle of the American Revolution which took place (in part) on a college campus. Some British soldiers took refuge in Nassau Hall breaking out panes of glass. A cannon ball pierced the portrait of George II. Later in the day the British army retreated through Princeton, and a body of American troops moved in to Nassau Hall. These patriots used benches and doors for firewood, and played with the orrery (sort of a planetarium) until it was broken beyond repair. After they left, the building was used for a military hospital.

By the autumn of 1778, a few students had drifted back into Nassau Hall and spent an uncomfortable winter there.

President Witherspoon was often away in Philadelphia as he was a member of the Continental Congress that had so many vital issues to decide. In 1791, fourteen years after the Battle of Princeton, a new roof was installed on the college hall and the building was once more in good shape.

At Brown University (then known as Rhode Island College), in Providence, classes were disbanded for 5½ years, from December of 1776 to May of 1782, after the end of the war. Books in the library had been removed to the country for safe keeping, after it was learned that British vessels were patrolling the Bay and interfering with trade.

After a British fleet of 70 ships sailed into nearby Newport, in December of 1776, the town of Providence was thrown into alarm and confusion. Martial law was proclaimed and the college building was utilized as a barracks by the militia of Rhode Island. President James Manning had a notice published in the Providence Gazette which read as follows:

"This is to inform all students, that their Attendance on College orders is here by dispensed with, until the End of the next Spring Vacation; and that they are at Liberty to return Home, or pursue their Studies elsewhere, as they think proper; And that those who pay as particular Attention to their Studies as these confused Times will admit, shall then be considered in the same Light and Standing as if they had given the usual Attendance here."

From 1780 to 1782 French troops used the college building (now known as University Hall) for a hospital.

At Brown, patriotism for the American cause was generated some years before 1776. The class of 1775 even denied themselves a public commencement as they felt "deeply affected with the distresses of our oppressed country, which now most unjustly feels the baneful effects of arbitrary power."

The Revolution was in the air, too, at the University of Pennsylvania, then known as the "College, Academy and Charitable School of Philadelphia." As early as 1775 provincial troops from Chester County were quartered in the college building. There was rather constant occupation by Pennsylvania soldiers until September of 1777, but classes were somehow held, off and on. Provost William Smith wrote to the Pennsylvania Council of Safety, the authority responsible for billeting the troops, saying that rooms had been broken into, the college firewood used, and "before we could well clear away the dirt and filth left by one set of soldiers and meet again in our places, another set has been forced upon us." About 150 soldiers were then occupying the premises and the yard was crowded with horses and wagons.

In June of 1777 the college was closed for students, and in September of that year the British occupied the city of Philadelphia. They used the buildings for a military hospital. One year later, in June of 1778, English troops were withdrawn from Philadelphia. Late in that year students came back and classes were held as best as they could.

Some members of the trustees, and at least one member of the faculty—Provost William Smith, himself—took a dim view of the break with the Crown. But when the news of Yorktown came to Philadelphia, the trustees and faculty sent resolutions of congratulations to Washington, and he was invited, with members of Congress, to be present at the commencement of 1782.

At Yale, students had made a point of dressing in American homespun clothing at commencements in the years just preceding independence. The Rev. Ezra Stiles, the wartime president of Yale, was devoted to liberty and was early of the belief that British America would become an independent state. As minister of the Congregational Church in Newport, Rhode Island, he had witnessed the occupation of that town by the British in December of 1776. In June of 1778, in the midst of the war years, Stiles came to New Haven to accept the presidency of Yale.

The year before Stiles had come, the college students had been dispersed for a while to inland towns because of fear of a British raid on the town and because of food shortage in New Haven. Severe food shortages continued in the early months of Stiles' administration. In a public notice, especially directed to parents, the president warned that unless they furnished provisions it would be impossible to keep the place open. Some food did appear and the college carried on until July of 1779 when the full blast of the war finally reached New Haven.

Word was received that a British fleet was fifteen miles away. President Stiles assembled the students and dismissed classes. The town was in great turmoil, as wagons filled with goods and people tried to make it out of town. The college records were picked up and the president gave them to his sixteen-year old son, Isaac, to take with him for safe keeping. Some of the students and one professor went off in the other direction to meet the enemy. Perhaps 5,000 British sailors and soldiers came ashore from about 40 ships, large and small.

The English troops reached New Haven in the evening and indulged, as many invaders have done before and since, in plunder, destruction, rape, murder, bayonetting, insolence, abuse, insult, and drunkenness. At night the occupiers camped on the green, right in front of the college, but by the next day the troops were on their way eastward. Professor Naphthali Daggett, the one who marched off with the students to engage the invaders, was injured in the battle by receiving many blows in close combat from bayonets and musket barrels. And although he lived on until 1780, he never fully recovered from the struggle.

During the raid some papers written by a former president of Yale, Thomas Clap, were taken from a trunk in the home of his daughter. Some of them were later found floating in Long Island Sound, so evidently they were thought worthless by their pilferer although now they

Yale College did not reopen until October of 1779, and then under conditions made difficult by further food shortages.

For Dartmouth College, way up at Hanover, in the Connecticut River Valley of New Hampshire, the action of the Revolution was far away. The college was first affected in 1777 by President Eleazar Wheelock's son, John, then a tutor (but later to become second president of the college), going off into the forces. He was appointed a major in the militia of New York at age 23. In that same year he was made a lieutenant colonel in the Continental Army and conducted an expedition into the Indian country of New York state. The death of John's father, in 1779, brought him back to Dartmouth where he took over the leadership of the college. The financial plight of the institution was in such shape, due to the Revolution, that it was said that if all of its property was sold there would not be enough money to cancel its debts.

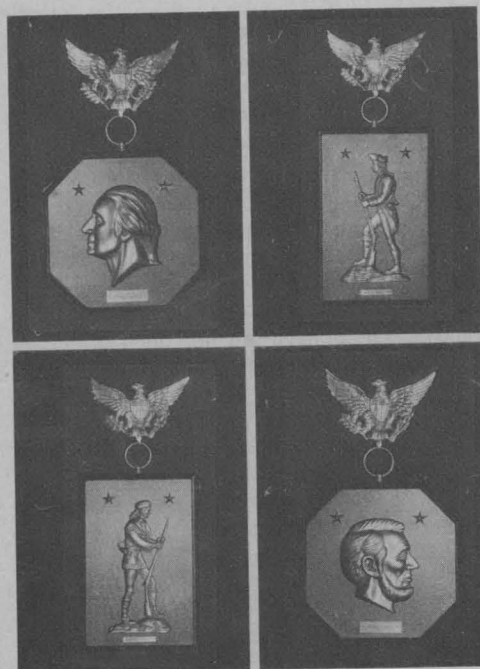

It was a discouragement to President Eleazar Wheelock, the founder of Dartmouth, that so many of the Indian nations, to whom he and his students had preached the Gospel, joined with the British in the conflict. It was embarrassing, too, to the president, a true patriot, when his friend and good patron of Dartmouth College, John Wentworth II, the last Royal Governor of New Hampshire, was thoroughly loyal to his King and was forced to flee his office.

Prior to the Revolution, the College of William and Mary was the richest college in North America, it being the recipient of royal and private benefactions. But during and after the Revolution, due to the depreciation of paper money, it lost most of its endowment.

Thirty students and three professors joined the American army. In January of 1781 classes were suspended when British forces invaded Virginia. The buildings were occupied, first by the British, Lord Cornwallis turning out the college president and his wife (refusing them even the privilege of drawing water from the well), and using the house as his headquarters in late June and early July of 1781.

After the British surrender at Yorktown, in October of 1781, the main college building was used as a hospital by the French army that had been aiding the Americans.

These occupations damaged the building severely, and the president's house was burned. A year later, in 1782, after the war was over, the students returned and the College of William and Mary resumed operation. To aid in the restoration of the battered campus, the French government gave the amount of £ 1,542.

National and international conflicts are not times of academic tranquility and prosperity. The events recounted above show how deeply the American colonial colleges were affected between 1775 and 1783. A more detailed examination of this period might focus on the ideology of independence—the part played by presidents, faculties, curriculums, readings, and among the students themselves.

STUDENTS REFUSE TO PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE

One hundred and twenty-one students at Cheyenne Central High School (Wyoming) showed up late to a band concert, recently, rather than take part in the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

The school has 1400 students who were advised by Asst. Principal Donald Kurtz that they would be allowed to enter the auditorium late if they wished to avoid saying the pledge.

One can only wonder what type of homes these students come from! They bask in the freedom of America, but refuse to respect it.

A Message from the Bicentennial Chairman

This report will confirm a verbal one given by your chairman of the Bicentennial Committee at the National Trustees Meeting, N.S.S.A.R., in Washington, D. C., October 14, 1972. It is the result of a survey of the 17 members comprising your appointments and from whom we have 15 replies to our request for their opinions. The initial inquiry to the committee was also sent to you, our headquarters, and to all the general officers and past presidents, so that many would be aware of the need for the action that was taken.

In our remarks to the Trustees, brief as we were, some personal comment on our activities in Washington this past year was expressed. This had led to the decision that time was coming to an end and that the National Society, S.A.R., must plan the individual course they must pursue to commemorate the Bicentennial. Our first letter to our Committee outlined an analysis of our view of the national scene and spoke of the multitudinous file we have compiled on the tremendous expansion of even the word "Bicentennial." From the nation's capital through the A.R.B.C. down to the most minute of organizations, everyone will be asked to get in the act and our 200,000,000 citizens not only will do that, but there will also be an equal number of ideas on what should be done.

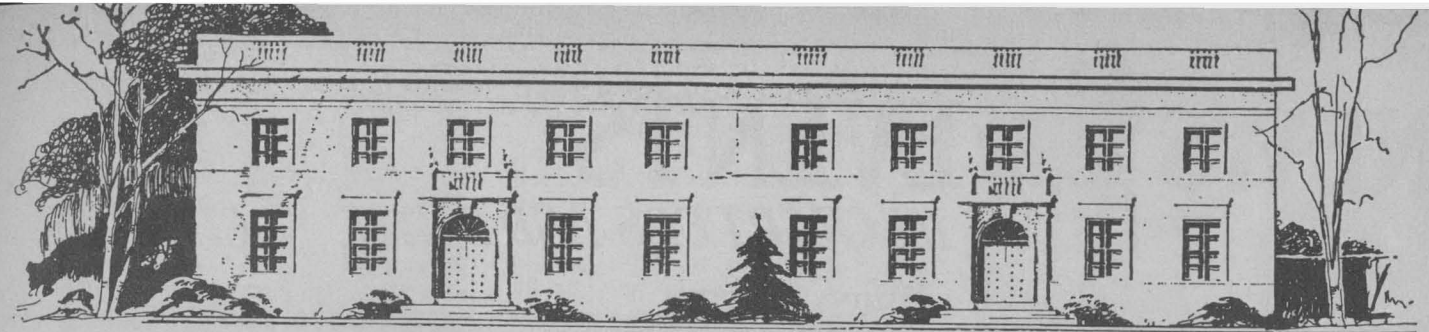

We particularly refer to The Wall Street Journal article that featured the words of our Compatriot, Senator Charles Mathias of Maryland, who warns: "Unless we do something, the 200th Anniversary of the American Revolution will consist, for the most part, in activities that will make no difference at all in the lives of most Americans." What can we point to with pride after July 5, 1976, that one and all can observe for centuries ahead as our recognition of the first 200 years? This question we added to the senate oversight hearing of the A.R.B.C. and in the presence of Senator Mathias.

It is the belief of your chairman that though the committee was widely separated across our Society, the majority understood the position that needed resolution. So it was that your committee in copies of their opinions submitted to you, concluded that an enduring memorial for our Society could best be represented by an addition to our building in Washington. Your chairman adds his approval to the nine members of the fifteen who gave us this appraisal. Because we have had a committee with the building under consideration for some time, our endorsement of that project should aid in their development and we transfer to them the culmination of our work and our decision.

It is essential to add the voice of several of the committee that many of our members will be involved in Federal, State, and local organizations where the impact of their ability and knowledge will help develop the Bicentennial Celebration in their area to attain desirable ends. Our guidance in this field would require the publication of a manual, such as is already available from other organizations and our effort would be repetitious.

The committee is ready to consider other avenues of service from suggestions that were presented. Our National Society has limitations in the exercise of directions to subordinate societies so that we can only recommend. There are general subjects that will be attractive to many and in the beginning it was mentioned that a medal might be used as not only a personal reminder, but could raise money for our project. This item could be given to donors and also sold to the public. Development of such a program will be given consideration.

Present SAR National Headquarters

Projected Addition

It is becoming increasingly difficult for the National Headquarters staff to operate efficiently because the present facilities, originally designed as a private home, are no longer adequate. With the mounting work load, together with a growing inventory of genealogical volumes and museum items, we must have more space for offices, records, library and museum. The practical and most economical solution is the construction of an adjoining building, to be built upon our adjoining side lot. The building has been authorized by the National Trustees and the 77th Annual Congress . . . subject to our ability to raise the necessary funds.

Exhibit the spirit of sacrifice displayed by your Revolutionary forebears, and join the distinguished ranks below. Your tax-deductible donation may be dedicated to the memory of a loved one. Please act today.

The following list acknowledges those who have donated $100 or more to the SAR Building Fund. Due to the space factor, listing of donors of lesser amounts will be printed but once, in the magazine issue following the donation.

IN CHAPTERS AND STATE SOCIETIES

Your SAR Magazine staff recommends that state societies appoint a qualified compatriot to assemble and transmit ready-to-print material to the office of the Editor. Cooperation by such state societies will obviously enable us to accord them a maximum of representation within these pages.

Do not send newspaper clippings or chapter notices, instead of ready-to-print resumes of activities.

Many situations necessitate the editing of submitted copy, and we reserve the customary editorial prerogative of condensing or omitting that which circumstances justify.

Due to limited space, the text of speeches and essays cannot be published.

Submitted photographs should be black and white glossy prints, for satisfactory reproduction, and should be "SAR subject-related."

Do not send photographs or material which are of such value that their return is necessitated. A service charge of $1 will be made for each photo or item that must be returned.

Any news material that predates the last previous deadline will be considered too outdated for publication, and will be rejected.

At the Erie Chapter (Penna.) Annual Book Night ceremonies, Secty. Gen. (Dr.) M. Graham Clark, the principal speaker, is presented the Honorary Erie Citizen Award by Treas. Gen. Donald E. Lathrop (rt).

ALABAMA SOCIETY

The Birmingham Chapter held a meeting in the office of Mayor George Seibells on Sept. 13, at which time the Mayor signed a proclamation designating "Constitution Week" and "Citizenship Day." Among those present at the meeting were President General Ryall S. Morgan and Alabama National Trustee James H. Chenery. Also present were Chapter officers: Pres. William G. Moses, V.P. James P. Bradford, Secty. Ira Pegues and Treas. Cary F. Hollingsworth.

ARIZONA SOCIETY

The gratitude of the National Society, SAR, is directed to Arizona, where National Trustee Ralph M. Pabst has personally donated 1000 hard-cover copies of God Is Still My Co-Pilot. These quality volumes are being utilized by the National Society to promote the SAR Building Fund.

At the Sept. 30 meeting of the Tucson Chapter, the SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Medal was presented to Detective Lawrence Hust of the Tucson Police Dept. In bestowing the honor, Chapter Pres. William W. Pearson read a letter of commendation from Police Chief W. J. Gilkinson, which stated, in part: "While in the Auto Theft Detail, Detective Hust was able to identify most of the members of an international auto theft ring. Further, he was able to curtail operations of at least 3 other international auto theft rings. These investigations resulted in a decrease of stolen cars and of unrecovered cars during 1971 in Tucson. He was a subject of a nationally-distributed Sunday magazine supplement article on Oct. 15, which rated him one of the 10 best police officers in America." Before joining the police force, Detective Hust served with the U.S. Marine Corps in Vietnam.

CALIFORNIA SOCIETY

Under the able leadership of President (Col.) Glenn I. Epperson, the San Diego Chapter stands in the forefront of California SAR activity. In October, Compatriots and guests enjoyed a superb buffet supper at the Admiral Kidd Club, and heard Richard Hanscom of the San Diego District Attorney's Office discuss the pros and cons of the death penalty. In November, the San Diego Chapter's guest speaker was Chaplain General Joseph B. Head, and his stirring address brought repeated standing ovations.

A first for the Santa Barbara Chapter was participation in the Veterans Day in October. Spectators constantly and enthusiastically applauded as the SAR unit passed. Another first for the Chapter was the presentation at the November meeting of an SAR Law Enforcement Commendation Award to Officer Dennis Huddle who assisted a wounded fellow-policeman during a hold-up, although wounded himself.

The San Francisco Chapter has had a busy calendar recently. Among recent guest speakers have been French Consul Gen. Emanuel de Castejo, Mr. Robert Gebhardt of the FBI, and Comp. Roland Walters, an investment counselor. More recently, Comp. Charles H. Poole presented his collection of slides of historical landmarks, and they were outstanding. During Patriotic Education Week, the Chapter joined other patriotic organizations at a picnic in Golden Gate Park.

The Sacramento Chapter has created a fine pamphlet describing the SAR and its goals. It is being used as a model for similar efforts by other chapters.

President Allan H. Reid of the Palo Alto Chapter reports that, due to member efforts, formal proclamations on Citizenship Day and Constitution Week were posted by officials of 9 area cities. Officials and DARs were invited to the Chapter's Constitution Week Luncheon on Sept. 16, and all enjoyed a magnificent address by Maj. Gen. Kenneth G. Wickham, USA (Ret.), who spoke on "A Professional Soldier's Reflections on the U.S. Constitution." The Chapter celebrated Yorktown Day with a program that included an outstanding historical discourse by Rev. Lester L. Haws. On Nov. 29, the Palo Alto Chapter hosted an exciting meeting with Chaplain Gen. Joseph B. Head as guest speaker. His presentation was capably delivered with heartfelt sincerity, unimpeachable accuracy and rousing inspiration.

COLORADO SOCIETY

The Colorado Society observed Constitution Week and Citizenship Day at the dinner meeting on Sept. 16 at the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital Officers' Club. Compatriots and their wives at the well-attended affair accorded the speaker, Dr. Samir H. Zakhem, a standing ovation for a most inspiring address.

Pres. Gen. and Mrs. Ryall S. Morgan were guests of honor of the Rocky Mountain District at Denver's new Holiday Inn East on Nov. 11. Comp. Morgan's inspiring speech, "Looking Back," was so enthusiastically received that printed copies will be widely distributed. Out-of-state attenders included New Mexico National Trustee and Mrs. Robert G. Luckey, New Mexico Society Pres. George F. Dickens, Arizona National Trustee Ralph M. Pabst, and Past V.P. Gen. and Mrs. Hosea B. Willard. Comp. Luckey was guest Chairman for the District Workshop in the afternoon, with Pres. Gen. Morgan participating. V.P. Gen. Harold E. Rice was regrettably absent, having undergone major surgery. Sunday morning, following the banquet, the Robert Luckeys drove the President General and First Lady to Albuquerque, with a stop enroute at the U.S. Air Force Academy. During the long drive, the Morgans were "treated" to a real Rocky Mountain blizzard. The Rockies really "put on a show" for the President General and his wife, but the warmth of the prevalent hospitality neutralized the temperatures.

DELAWARE SOCIETY

The Delaware Society held its annual Constitution Week Dinner at the Shawnee Country Club on Sept. 16. The State Auditor, Lt. Col. George W. Cripps, paid homage to the framers of the U.S. Constitution.

At its regular monthly luncheon at the Army & Navy Club, the D.C. Society has had an interesting series of speakers. At the Sept. luncheon, Col. Frederick B. At the Oct. meeting, Mr. Bruce Herschensohn, former Director of the Motion Picture and Television Service of the U.S. Information Agency brought a fascinating message on the new meanings of old words, and how the meaning of honored phrases has been perverted in the modern idiom. Col. Tracey Mulligan, at the Nov. meeting, spoke on "Education Today." On Sept. 17, the D.C. Society joined in a Constitution Week program at the All Saints Episcopal Church with the DAR. At its Sept. 12 meeting, the D.C. Society's Board of Management authorized Pres. State Contest Chairman Don A. Melching has contacted all public and private high schools in the State, as well as all military academies. The State has been divided into 5 contest districts, and the 5 district winners will compete at the State level for the right to represent the Indiana Society at Palm Beach in June. During the luncheon, Pres. Brian Wright of the Indiana Society, C.A.R., spoke, expressing appreciation for past SAR assistance, and hoping that it will continue in the future. He especially asked that SARs attend C.A.R. meetings in their respective areas, to show increased interest in the younger generation. Thereupon, Pres. Carmichael called upon all SAR chapters to assist the C.A.R. throughout the State. During the program, a bylaws revision committee was appointed by the President, and they will report, recommending possible changes. State V.P. E. La Rue Allen will chair this committee, which is composed of one member from each chapter in the state. Before the conclusion of the luncheon-meeting, it was announced that the John Hay Chapter of Salem would host the Indiana Society's Annual Meeting on April 7, at which time, Pres. Gen. Ryall S. Morgan, Mrs. Morgan, V.P. Gen. John B. Moore and Mrs. Moore would be honored guests. Invitations are already being extended to other present and past National officers within and without the State.

NEVADA SOCIETY

At a recent Constitution Day banquet meeting with the DAR, the Nevada Society, SAR, enjoyed a superb program, including an address by Capt. Oliver "Boots" LeBoutillier. Almost one hundred attenders heard the sole surviving observer of the aerial fight, in which Baron Manfred von Richthofen of the Imperial German Air Force was killed, talk on "The Day the Red Baron Died." The former R.A.F. captain started his flying career when he soloed in 1916. He was commander of the R.A.F. 209 Squadron, and was in the historical air battle over the Somme River in 1918 when Germany's greatest war ace was shot down. Capt. LeBoutillier was later decorated by Sir Winston Churchill. During his years as a pilot, he has accumulated 11,000 hours in planes ranging from the Wright Model B to multi-engine bombers. At the conclusion of his address, the Captain was presented with the SAR Good Citizenship Medal by Supreme Court Justice John Mowbray, the SAR National Trustee, and Dr. James Gasho, the State President.

The Oriskany Battle Chapter conducted impressive and respectful services at the grave of Peter L. Ehle, a Tryon County militiaman who fought at the side of General Nicholas Herkimer during the critical Battle of Oriskany in 1777. The services were conducted during a chilly drizzle, but when the memorial wreath was placed at the tombstone by President (Col.) Irving Thurston, bright sunlight suddenly bathed the congregation. An SAR bronze marker was then set in place. Chapter Secretary E. Kenneth Beckwith read a moving letter from Comp. Timothy H. Gridley, M.D. of the North Carolina Society, SAR, who is a direct descendant of Peter Ehle. The Oriskany Battle Chapter members, especially President Thurston and Secretary Beckwith, are to be commended for having driven from Utica to distant Chittenango for the services. Mrs. Harold J. Webb W. Wilder, V.P. Gen.

On the weekend of Sept. 15-17, Compatriots gathered at Newport, R.I. to conduct the 27th Fall Meeting of the New England Council, SAR, to honor the U.S. Constitution and to greet Pres. Gen. and Mrs. Ryall S. Morgan. Following the business meeting on the 16th, members and guests joined at a luncheon at which a brief memorial service was conducted by Past Pres. Gen. Howard E. Coe for Henry D. Grebenstein, Secretary of the Mass. Society, who died on Sept. 14. R.I. Society Pres. Albert A. Remington, III, welcomed those attending. New England State presidents and trustees were introduced. Comp. (Cmdr.) Thomas W. Hall, Chairman of the R.I. Society's Constitution Week Committee, delivered a stirring address on "The Constitution of the United States." In the afternoon, many toured the city by bus to view historic Newport, the U.S. Naval War College, the 10-mile Oceanfront Drive, and to visit the Vanderbilt Mansion, "The Breakers." Others followed a walking tour of historic places near the hotel to view some of the more than 300 houses in Newport which predate 1750. At the Banquet, greetings were delivered by Mrs. John Howieson, DAR State Regent, by V.P. Gen. Webb W. Wilder, and by Mayor Humphrey J. Donnelly, who presented a Newport tile to the President General. A letter of greeting from R.I. Governor Frank Licht was read, and his Constitution Day Proclamation was read by Comp. Thomas W. Hall, a retired U.S. Navy Commander. The President General's address on "George Washington and Today" was thought-provoking, and he urged wide support of the How-They-Voted Program of the SAR National Americanism Committee. The evening ended with presentation to Comp. and Mrs. Morgan of gifts reminiscent of the Slater Mill at Pawtucket, R.I., the first successful cotton mill in America. In addition to those already mentioned, distinguished guests included Past Pres. Gen. and Mrs. Len Young Smith of Illinois, Treasurer Gen. and Mrs. Donald E. Lathrop of Penna., Chancellor Gen. and Mrs. David V. Prugh of N.H., V.P. Gen. and Mrs. Vincent Van Inwegen of N.J., and Past Chancellor Gen. and Mrs. F. Giles Parker of Md. #### CONNECTICUT SOCIETY

At the Constitution Day Banquet of the Connecticut Society, Rear Admiral Paul J. Early, USN, Commander of Submarine Flotilla 2 at the U.S. Submarine Base in Groton, was the Guest of Honor. National Trustee Harry F. Morse bestowed the SAR Gold Good Citizenship Medal upon the distinguished officer, with an appropriate and justified eulogy. Comp. Morse called attention to Constitution Week with the statement that The First Constitution of Connecticut was that famous document, The Fundamental Orders, submitted by Rev. Thomas Hooker, and adopted on Jan. 14, 1638 . . . and that it was, in fact, the First Bill of Rights granted to man, placing, as it did, "The Foundation of Authority in the Free Consent of the People." That document served as Connecticut's Constitution until the adoption of the State Constitution by the General Assembly in 1818. Distinguished guests present at the banquet included: RAdm. David B. Bell, USN (Ret.), Secty., Nathan Hale Branch; Pres. G. Potter Darrow, Nathan Hale Branch; State Pres. Norris C. Andrews; Admiral Early; Past Pres. Gen. Howard E. Coe; Past Pres. Gen. Walter R. Martin; Treas. Harold F. Nash, Nathan Hale Branch; Pres. Gerard J. Morgan, Matthew Mead Branch; and V. P. Gen. Webb W. Wilder.

Compatriots of the Capt. John Couch Branch joined with members of the Susan Carrington Clarke Chapter, DAR, for a dinner on Oct. 25. Historian Charles Clulee spoke on the plans and programs for celebrating the Bicentennial in Connecticut.

RHODE ISLAND SOCIETY

National Trustee Harry F. Morse pins the Gold Good Citizenship Medal upon the breast of RAdm. Paul J. Early, USN, Commander of Submarine Flotilla 2, as Nathan Hale Branch President G. Potter Darrow (lt) and Connecticut Society President Norris C. Andrews (rt) look on.

The speakers were leading figures in the community, and all paid glowing tribute to Comp. Wilder's outstanding devotion to the activities and purposes of the Audubon Society, several historical societies, the Mayflower Society, R.I. Bible Society and others. He was highly praised for his untiring efforts to increase SAR membership, and was presented with a gift in recognition of his service to the Society.

At the instigation of the Rhode Island Society, then-Governor Licht issued a proclamation for Constitution Week, which was widely promulgated throughout the State.

The Rhode Island Society's November meeting at the Golden Lantern in Warwick was attended by 46. The speaker, Wilfrid L. Gates, Jr., President of "CLEAN, R.I.," alerted the Society to environmental conditions which should be improved to increase enjoyment of the State by residents and visitors, both now and as we participate in celebration of its proud history during the Bicentennial years.

The December meeting of the R.I. Society was held at the Wannamoisett Country Club in Rumford. Dinner followed a brief business meeting at which certain bylaw changes were approved. Comp. Norman T. Bolles presented an extremely interesting talk on "The History of Police in Rhode Island". Comp. Daniel S. Harrop, III, Rhode Island's newest and youngest member was a guest, and was presented with an SAR rosette. He is 18, and a freshman at Brown University.

Lincoln Memorial University

Tucked in the Southern highlands at Cumberland Gap where the states of Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia converge, is Lincoln Memorial University, an independent, fully-accredited, 4-year college of arts and sciences. LSU aids young men and women of Appalachia, a less affluent region of our Nation, who have few resources for a college education, through self-help and other programs worthy of our American heritage.

Since Lincoln Memorial is neither tax-supported nor church-supported, being privately maintained, it is dependent upon the assistance of concerned individuals, organizations and business firms. Because of its free enterprise character and adherence to traditional and patriotic education, the college is a favorite of organizations including the Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Revolution and Huguenot Society. Their continuing gifts to scholarship funds and other needs of the institution are both welcome and vital.

LSU's 1,000 acres nestle among the hardwoods and evergreens near the crest of the Cumberland Mountains of the Appalachian Range, and more than 37 species of trees adorn the hills and dales of the magnificent sprawling college grounds.

Daniel Boone explored these hills, and Abraham Lincoln was born in nearby Hodgenville, Kentucky.

Lincoln Memorial University is the only college in the United States that has adopted SAR awards as an official phase of their annual commencement ceremonies. Each year, a selection committee meticulously reviews the qualities of all young men and women of the graduating class. Emphasis centers upon conduct, good citizenship, academic grades and leadership, with the final selection of one lady and one gentleman. Each receives the SAR Silver Good Citizenship Medal during the graduation ceremonies, with prominent credit being accorded our Society. Winners for 1971 and 1972 are portrayed on this page. Due to the scrupulous and rigid analysis exercised, the committee was unable to designate a young man who sufficiently displayed the necessary outstanding qualities. Therefore, rather than compromise the lofty standards, no award was made to a young man in 1972. The SAR highly commends Lincoln Memorial University for this superb attitude which reflects the high quality of both institutions.

An Old-Fashioned Compatriot

When I was a student, I was quiet.
 I didn't protest, I didn't riot.
 I wasn't unwashed, I wasn't obscene.
 I made no demands on prexy or dean.
 I sat no sit'ins, I heckled no speaker.
 I broke not a window, few students were meeker.
 I'm forced to admit with some hesitation,
 All I got out of school was an education.

Horse Sense

A horse can't pull while kicking,
 This fact I merely mention.
 And he can't kick while pulling,
 Which is my chief contention.
 Let's imitate the good old horse
 And lead a life that's fitting
 Just pull an honest load—and then
 There'll be no time for kicking.

The unfailing formula for production of morale is patriotism, self-respect, discipline and self confidence within a military unit, joined with fair treatment and merited appreciation from without. It cannot be produced by pampering or coddling an army, and it is not necessarily destroyed by hardship, danger or even calamity. It will quickly wither and die if soldiers come to believe themselves the victims of indifference or injustice on the part of their government, or of ignorance, personal ambition, or ineptitude on the part of their leaders.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, 1933

The H-t-V Battle Plan of the SAR National Americanism Committee

A BATTLE PLAN—to effectively turn America back toward freedom.

Many of the major plans in effect in Government today are unpopular among the people—busing, inflation, no-win wars, big give-away to foreigners, higher taxes, Executive Orders—but all these plans are "legal" in that they have been passed by Congress. The average citizen has no easy way of knowing which Congressmen (or Senators) are forcing these plans on us. The Congressmen who pass these Bills are aware that their constituents don't know, so many of them feel no responsibility to those who put them in office.

Now the "How-they-Vote" Plan makes it easy for the citizen to know how their Congressmen vote, and (more important) to let the Congressman know that they know. When this happens you will see a Congressman scramble to change his voting stance to comply with the will of the people.

This BATTLE PLAN makes it easy for the citizen to:
1st: Know how his Congressman (or Senator) voted on an important Bill.

2nd: Understand what issues are involved in the Bill.

3rd: (and MOST important) Let his Congressman know that he knows how they vote.

We suggest these steps:

1. Let your Americanism Committee know how many copies of each "Bullet" (letters to Congressmen) you want sent to you for distribution.

2. When received, read one over to know what issues are involved.

3. If your Congressmen voted the way you wanted him to, mark across the face of the Bullet, "Congratulations on voting right on this one," or some such phrase. If he voted wrong, let the letter speak for you.

H-t-V is not a "negative" program. It is a positive aggressive program which makes it easy for the citizen to understand the issues, and to let his Congressmen know that he is watching what kind of job they are doing.

4. Mail a Bullet, after signing your name and return address, to each of your Congressmen (from your state)

5. Send copies of the Bullet to a mailing list selected by you. Personal friends, members of your church or club, people whose names you see in the local paper, names from the phone book, your Christmas card list, people to whom you send invoices or checks each month, etc. Many of them will sign the Bullet and forward it to their Congressmen.

You will be amazed at the response you will get after your Congressmen get a few letters. It will shake them up to learn that, at long last, you are beginning to learn "How-they-Vote." The fact that the letters are printed increases the impact—they realize that thousands are being sent out.

Expand your mailing list as rapidly as time and money allows. Let us know how many Bullets you want, as your list grows.

Use this Plan to get an immediate improvement in the voting stance of your Senators and Congressmen. Get results without waiting (sometimes years) to defeat and replace an incumbent. Its purpose is NOT to defeat a Senator (tho' that may be incidental) but to stop the Congress from voting away your rights, your wealth, your freedom. Now is always the time to educate the constituents—do not wait until just before elections. People forget generalities, but will remember documented facts about a vote, particularly if it affects their pocketbooks.

The H-t-V Plan lets a Congressman know that the one thing he wants most—re-election—depends on how he votes in the Congress, rather than how he talks when he comes home. It also has a carry-over affect, for in case it helps defeat an incumbent, his successor knows why he won—and correctly assumes that you are going to tell his constituents, in turn, how he votes. It removes the information gap between us and the men we put into office—don't forget, we are going down the drain, and most of us don't know which Congressmen are pulling the lever. Write your Committee at Box 3256, Spartanburg, S. C. 29302 for sample "Bullets"—and we assure you that you will be amazed to see that most of your Senators and Congressmen don't vote the way they talk.

Special note to those citizens who are using the "How-they-Vote" Plan:

"DO YOU WANT YOUR SENATORS AND CONGRESSMEN TO KEEP ON DOING WHAT THEY ARE DOING? IF YOU DO, JUST KEEP ON DOING, WHAT YOU ARE DOING, AND THEY WILL TOO!"

In Article IV, Section 1, line 9, strike out the word "and" between the words "General" and "Librarian General" and add after the words "Librarian General" the following:

"and Organizing Secretary General," so that, as amended, Section 1 of Article IV will read as follows:

"Section 1. The General Officers of this Society shall be a President General, a Vice President General for each of thirteen regularly established districts within the United States as specified in the Bylaws, a Vice President General for outside areas—if the Board of Trustees shall so provide; a Secretary General, Treasurer General, Registrar General, Historian General, Genealogist General, Chancellor General, Chaplain General, Surgeon General, Librarian General and Organizing Secretary General, who shall be elected by ballot by a majority vote of the delegates present at the Annual Congress of the Society, and shall hold office for one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. * * * *

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution that it propose to the Congress of the Society to be held at Palm Beach, Florida on June 24-27, 1973, the following amendments to the Bylaws of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution:

1. Add a new Bylaw No. 14-A—Organizing Secretary General—to read as follows:

"Bylaw No. 14-A—Organizing Secretary General.

The Organizing Secretary General shall receive from the Presidents or Organizing Secretaries of the State Societies copies of all applications granted by the State Societies to organize new Chapters and of the appointments of Organizing Presidents for proposed new Chapters, which copies shall be forthwith sent to him by the State Society. Upon receipt of those copies, he shall send to the Organizing President the relevant material, prepared by the Organizing Secretary General, or under his direction, in regard to the organization of new Chapters and thereafter to render appropriate assistance to such Organizing President and State Officers involved in the formation of the proposed Chapter. He shall keep an accurate and current record of all of the Chapters of the Society with all relevant information in regard to their location, the names of their current Presidents and Secretaries and their current addresses. He shall be advised by the appropriate State Officers of the disbandment of any Chapter and of any Chapter which has been inactive for a period of one year or more with the names and addresses of the officers of such Chapters. He shall, subject to the approval of the State President, make diligent efforts to revive such a disbanded Chapter and to stimulate the growth and activities of such inactive Chapter. He shall provide for a form of Charter for use of Chapters and shall keep a record of the Organizing President, the first officers of a newly formed Chapter and of its original Charter members. Organizing Presidents shall advise the Organizing Secretary General of any proposed name for the proposed new Chapter prior to its adoption in order to avoid, if possible, a duplication of Chapter names. The Organizing Secretary General shall make a report in regard to the Chapters of the Society at the Annual Congress."

2. Amend the third paragraph of Section 1 of Bylaw No. 23—Insignia—by eliminating the word "and" in line 14 between the words "Librarian General" and the word "Surgeon" and in line 15 after the word "General" and add the following:

"and Organizing Secretary General" so that the third paragraph of Section 1 of Bylaw No. 23—Insignia, as amended, will read as follows:

"The President General, during his term of office, and while acting in that capacity on official and ceremonial occasions, shall wear the distinctive badge of his office. It may be carried at the left breast or suspended from the neck ribbon. In formal dress he shall wear a sash of the Society colors, three and one-half (3½) inches in width, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip. Past Presidents General, in formal dress, may wear a sash of the Society colors, three and one-half (3½) inches wide, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip. Active and past Vice Presidents General, the Secretary General, Treasurer General, Registrar General, Historian General, Chancellor General, Genealogist General, Chaplain General, Librarian General, Surgeon General, and Organizing Secretary General, in formal dress, may wear a sash of the Society colors, two and one-half (2½) inches wide, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip."

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Executive Secretary give sixty days' notice of the proposed amendments as provided in Bylaw No. 27—Amendments of the Bylaws of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the above proposed amendments of the Bylaws be presented for the consideration of the Annual Congress to be held at Palm Beach, Florida, on June 24-27, 1973, only after that Congress has first adopted the proposed amendment to Article IV, Section 1 of the Constitution of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution providing for an Organizing Secretary General as one of the General Officers of the Society.

Chancellor Gen. Prugh stated that a decision on administra-

Christmas night, 1776, was gray and bleak in Trenton, a perfect match for Colonel Johann Rall's mood. His holiday had been practically ruined with ridiculous warnings that George Washington and his ragged band of revolutionaries were planning to cross the Delaware and attack the town.

Rall was commander of the Hessian troops defending Trenton for the British and he felt he knew his enemy well. An attack by those "country clowns"? Impossible! They were in Pennsylvania licking their wounds after being beaten in New York and New Jersey. And confident of his judgment he left headquarters and sat down to a sumptuous Christmas dinner at the Trenton Tavern. Later, to lift his spirits, he spent the evening drinking wine and playing cards with a friend, Abraham Hunt.

But the colonel misplayed his cards that night. For farther north on the Pennsylvania side, Washington and 2,400 brave Americans had begun that fateful river crossing in a desperate counterattack. (Even while at cards Rall received a last-minute warning about this in a note from a Tory farmer, but he tucked it in his pocket, unread.)

What a valiant effort Washington and his men were making in that crossing. The severe cold froze feet and fingers; the sleet cut faces like a knife and the ice-floes jammed boats making headway nigh impossible. But undaunted the army pushed on until at 4 a.m., as Rall slept in his bed, they landed on the Jersey shore. At 8 a.m. they attacked Trenton and the battle was on.

Whatever else he might have been, Johann Rall was no coward. Aroused by the boom of the cannon, he rushed into the street and tried to rally his troops. But all was in vain and just when the American triumph was almost complete, he fell mortally wounded. Only then did Rall realize his mistake. Lying on his death bed, he finally read the note he had pushed in his pocket, and said, "If I had read that at Mr. Hunt's, I wouldn't be here."

He died December 27th. His epitaph read "Here lies Colonel Rall; with him all is over."

tion of the Pension Trust Fund had been deferred until the possibility of handling by I.T.A.A. could be investigated.

Chaplain Gen. Joseph B. Head reported on the urgent need for a program to deepen the spiritual motivation of the American people.

Librarian Gen. Ronald O. Baymiller reported on the need for space and personnel in the SAR Library.

Surgeon Gen. Donald G. Barton, M.D. reported orally on the current struggle between conservative and liberal groups in socialized medicine programs.

Vice President Gen. Marshall E. Barton submitted a proposal to reduce the size of the South Atlantic District by transferring Virginia to the Mid Atlantic District.

Vice President Gen. O. M. Wilson, Jr. of the Southern District proposed that every new member should receive a handbook as well as a rosette.

Vice President Gen. John B. Moore, Jr. reported that the Central District was in prosperous condition.

The Benediction was given by Chaplain Gen. Head and the meeting was adjourned at 3:00 P.M.

How long is a meter? An international conference of scientists has decided that the exact length of a meter is 1,650,763.37 times the wave-length of the orange light of isotopic krypton of mass 86 at 760 millimeters of pressure at 15 degrees centigrade. There is no doubt that SARs have long sought this information.

PEACE

BY THE WONDERFUL PEOPLE WHO BROUGHT YOU KOREA AND VIETNAM

By Soldier—Author, ARCHIBALD E. ROBERTS, LT. COL., A.U.S., Ret.

Introduction by: CONGRESSMAN JOHN R. RARICK, M.C.

Here are the hard facts on high finance and world revolution through the United Nations, the Council on Foreign Relations and the Federal Reserve System by the man who wrote the prizewinning book, VICTORY DENIED.

Roberts charges the Federal government has been captured by a secret government of monetary power which now seeks to coerce the American people into a 1984 Orwellian Animal Farm.

This is a book that could change the course of American History. There is, says Roberts, a sophisticated attack on Western Civilization by those seeking to destroy this Republic and establish a totalitarian government of the financial elite. He identifies the Mattoids who are creating one world government in the name of peace. He shows how an aroused citizenry can inspire application of sovereign state power to restore sanity and return control of this nation to the people. He details a victory plan.

This is a book that is bound to be one of the great bestsellers of 1973. (WRITE FOR FREE BROCHURE.)

Immediate Past Pres. Gen. Eugene C. McGuire beams proudly upon receiving the coveted Benjamin Franklin Chapter Distinguished Service Plaque from State Pres. (Dr.) John Brumbaugh (rt) and Chapter Pres. (Col.) Robert Reynolds (lt).

If you live in, or hail from, Cape May, N.J., the chances are one in three that you're a Mayflower descendant. Dr. Paul Howe, in his book, Mayflower Descendants of Cape May, maintains that proportionately more residents of that area can claim kinship with the famous voyagers than the present inhabitants of Plymouth, Mass., where the Pilgrims landed. Their ancestors moved to Cape May in Colonial days and were a "lost colony" for more than two hundred years.

A bright new musical album that warmly presents the story of our nation's birth, designed for the enjoyment and education of both young and old.

This stereo album has been officially endorsed by the National Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The SAR has been accorded a role in the distribution of this patriotic record, with the advantage of offering a fund-raising opportunity to our state societies and chapters.

The album will be retailed at $6.95. SAR state societies, chapters, and individual members may purchase them at $5.00 each from our National Headquarters (2412 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008).

This program offers a rare opportunity to further patriotism and, at the same time to add to SAR treasuries.

A Magnificent Contribution to the History of the American Revolution...

In the spring of 1781 the French commander Rochambeau marched his forces across Connecticut to meet Washington's Continentals on the Hudson. From there they moved down through New Jersey and Pennsylvania to Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia. At Yorktown the combined forces of Washington's Continentals and Rochambeau's Army, with the support of the French navy, fought the battle which won America its independence. The journals, maps, and sketches in these volumes vividly recreate the exciting adventure of the French army in the American Revolution, and constitute an invaluable addition to the history of our nation.

Vol. I: The Journals of Clermont-Crevecoeur, Verger, and Berthier 369 pages and 47 illustrations, 11 in color

Vol. II: Itineraries and Maps and Views 368 pages with 174 maps and illustrations, 122 in color
